Pre-Surgical Psychological Evaluations for Bariatric Surgery Candidates

The Purpose of the Evaluation

Bariatric surgery is a life-altering event. Many patients may share common reactions and paths after having the surgery. However, every patient is treated as an individual. Because of this it is important to do a thorough assessment of each person to try and determine what individual and unique challenges each person may face as the role of food changes in their lives. In this way plans may be made to meet these challenges in the smoothest way possible. The purpose of the evaluation is to support the long-term success of your surgery and lifestyle changes.

The Evaluation

The evaluation has been designed in accordance with the American Society for Bariatric Surgery's "Suggestions for the Pre-Surgical Assessment of Bariatric Surgery Candidates." The evaluation consists of the completion of standardized psychological tests which are designed to learn as much about a patient as possible (attitudes, behaviors, emotions) in a relatively brief time, review of the paperwork you completed, and a clinical interview with Dr. Bongo. All the information you provided combined with the test results are utilized to create a somewhat brief but comprehensive report, which is then shared with your surgeon's office any anyone else you authorize release to. Feedback and recommendations will also be provided during the evaluation appointment. In most cases, the report should be delivered to the physician that referred you to me within one week after your evaluation has been completed. Please allow 3-4 hours for your evaluation appointment.

Location

Dr. Bongo will complete your evaluation either by via Zoom/Telehealth, or at her office, depending on whether your insurance allows tele-assessment as a covered benefit, and patient preference. For most patients who have health insurance that allows for tele-assessments, your evaluation will be completed by telehealth/Zoom unless in person services are preferred. Health precautions and technology requirements will be discussed when you call to schedule. Appropriate face coverings are required for in-person appointments.

upfront unless you chose to not utilize your insurance or if your deductible is not met. Dr. Bongo does ask for a credit card guarantee of payment (optional) for the evaluation. The discounted rate does not allow for insurance claim submission. You must inform Dr Bongo of your wish to not use insurance for her services and she will provide you with a Good Faith Estimate.

While each insurance company is different, many insurance companies typically pay for much of the cost and your out-of-pocket expense will be the amount of your co-pay or co-insurance (if your deductible has been met). Even when insurance companies verify your benefits in advance, there are no guarantees of what your insurance carrier will actually pay. Even within insurance companies the payment rates may be different for different policies. Some insurance companies (BCBS of Wyoming) will not pay for Dr Bongo's services until your surgery is precertified or if you have a legitimate mental health diagnosis. If your surgery is not precertified by BCBS of Wyoming, or you don't have a mental health diagnosis, the full cost of the evaluation will be your responsibility. Please note that surgery precertification is not a guarantee that BCBS of Wyoming will pay for your evaluation. PLEASE CONTACT YOUR INSURANCE DIRECTLY TO DETERMINE YOUR FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.
